6. What do you feel are a child's basic rights and needs?

---

---

---

7. CASA supports a philosophy of being child-centered and family-focused. In what ways do you see yourself putting that philosophy into action as you represent abused and neglected children?

---

---

---

---

8. CASA's focus is on the best interests of the child. List 4-5 things you feel are always in a child's best interests.

---

---

---

---

9. As a CASA volunteer you will work with people who have status because of the professional roles they occupy (role status). You also know people whom you respect and have regard for (personal status). Sometimes these people are one in the same and sometimes not. How would you go about working with someone on a regular basis who had role status but to whom you did not afford personal status?

Successful CASA Volunteers come from a variety of backgrounds, differing education levels, occupations, ages, and more. It is the personal attributes of the individual, the CASA training, and support from our excellent CASA Staff that allow 'ordinary' people to advocate in the Court system for abused children. We honor and value diversity.

The application, supplemental application, interview(s), references and training process are invaluable for you and the CASA Program to decide if CASA is a good fit for you. There are circumstances that may exclude a person from being a CASA: for instance, certain criminal charges/convictions, not being 21 years of age (some 20-year-old students may be accepted), a recently past or pending child endangerment investigation, or inability to complete training. For a more complete list of qualities and disqualifiers, please see CASA/ywca Staff and/or obtain a copy of the Clark County CASA Policies and Procedures.
